

INVESTEC ASSET MANAGEMENT IS REBRANDING AS NINETY ONE

Dear Investor,

The Boards of Investec plc and Investec Limited have announced that Investec Asset Management will become a separately listed entity. As a result, Investec Asset Management has taken this opportunity to create a new name and brand that will be completely separate from the Investec Group, while staying true to who they are.

NINETY ONE: A NAME TO CELEBRATE A YEAR OF SIGNIFICANT CHANGE

Investec Asset Management started in South Africa in 1991, which was a year of transformative change in our country and abroad. With these positive changes came the chance to invest in a brighter future. The new name Ninety One recognises the momentous time in which Investec Asset Management started.

➔ What this means to Brenthurst Wealth Clients

Investec Asset Management is changing their name, but nothing else. When they demerge in Q1 2020, functional elements like phone numbers, email addresses and fund names will change, full details of which will be communicated early next year. It is important to note that whilst the fund names will change, the underlying teams, philosophies and processes will remain the same, as will clients' investments.

➔ What impact does this have on IMS?

Investec Investment Management Services (Investec IMS), their investment platform business, together with Investec Assurance Limited, will remain wholly-owned subsidiaries of their company. Upon listing, Investec IMS will become Ninety One Investment Platform. Beyond the name change, there will be no change to the team, the service or the product range. Investec IMS was never part of the Investec Group balance sheet.

➔ Why will the zebra identity change?

The Investec name and the zebra have high levels of recognition across the markets in which IAM operates. As their business is separating from the Investec Group, it's important that Ninety One develops its own brand and identity. A comprehensive launch programme is planned for the demerged business from Q1 2020, which will support the promotion of Ninety One with a new, dynamic and impactful visual identity.
